Mobile apps studio for the extended care experience

Digitally-savvy consumers need access to their health-related information with the snap of a finger. In a patient journey, the availability of the correct information at the right time is critical for making informed decisions and arriving at the proper care plan for patients. But, most of the time, retrieving and capturing patients' data by doctors and nurses is time-consuming and frustrating. In addition, healthcare professionals are constantly moving within the hospital to attend to critical care procedures.

ACL Digital's Omnicare, an app studio with a collection of mobile healthcare applications, enhances the experience of patients and healthcare professionals to capture and view health information quickly and act on critical tasks rapidly.
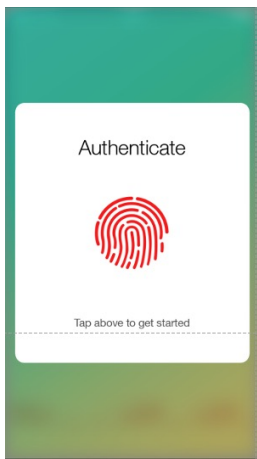

Point of Care Experience

Omnicare helps to standardize and harmonize care delivery across the care continuum - on the move from anywhere at any time.
